CSUF PASA KAIBIGAN PRESENTS

Engkanto

25TH ANNUAL PILIPINO CULTURE NIGHT

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 2012

LA MIRADA THEATRE FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

A Message from the President...

Good evening to you – our family, friends, and to past, present, and future CSUF PASA Kaibigan (Friends). My name is Celine Villanueva and it has been an honor and privilege to serve as PASA's President throughout the planning process and execution of this year's Pilipino Culture Night (PCN). I have been a member of this organization for six semesters and have been on PASA board for four, and in my years of experience, I can honestly say that nothing compares to the unity created when it comes time for PASA to put forth a PCN.

Many people believe that if you want something done right, you have to do it yourself. This concept holds true for us Filipinos and Filipino-Americans in regards to the story that we have chosen to put forth. This year is CSUF PASA's 25th Annual Pilipino Culture Night, but "Engkanto" molds to this year and to our generation, and we have come to learn that there is no one that can tell our story better than we can. PCN is a platform that we provide to our members as an outlet of expression. For the Filipinos, Filipino-Americans, and all other ethnicities represented in this organization, PCN is a way for us to accept all parts of our culture and fuse it all together in a way that truly encapsulates all the characteristics that make us who we are, flaws and all. PCN is not simply a show that ends when the curtains fall – it is our way of manifesting our passion for our culture into a production that resonates for years to come.

On behalf of CSUF PASA, I would like to thank everyone who has contributed in any way to the success of "Engkanto." To our family, friends, PASA alumni, SCPASA, ASI, AICA, TDB, APO, and all others, thank you for your never-ending love and support. To Anghel & Jacqui, & PASA board members from Fall 2011 and Spring 2012, thank you for your hard work and commitment to this organization & to this event. You are all amazing leaders and I'm so incredibly proud of you. Last, but not least, to the amazing members of CSUF PASA Kaibigan, thank you so much for contributing your time and talents to this production. This would not have been possible without you!

You may remember the "Pieces" from 2008, "Love How You Do" from 2009, "Hero" from 2010, and finally "Lola's Kitchen" from 2011 – but I encourage you to let go of all prior expectations and to let the magic of "Engkanto 2012" speak for itself.

Maraming Salamat sa Inyong Lahat,
Celine Villanueva

CSUF PASA "Kaibigan" -- Established in 1983

The Pilipino-American Student Association at California State University, Fullerton, is a student based group set out on promoting Pilipino unity through education, responsibility, and character. This is accomplished with good communication, organization, leadership, recruitment and retention. By teaching Pilipino culture among the youth, we aim to build Integrity & Friendship, so that one day they themselves can make a difference.

CSUF PASA Kaibigan is part of SCPASA (Southern California Pilipino American Student Alliance), which is a space for all the Filipino-American clubs and organizations in Southern California to gather, network, and collaborate.

PCN Coordinator

Good Evening Everyone, at Magandang Gabi sa Inyong Lahat!

I would like to thank you all for coming to PASA's 25th Annual PCN. There's something magical about this night... It's an amazing, inspiring, and beautiful thing, when people come together and showcase their talents and pride in their culture. It's the kind of event that has held a special place in my heart since my very first one back in 2009. When I joined the Tinikling team back then, the captains told us that when we picked our dance partners, we could possibly find our soulmate. I thought it was all a big joke, but my girlfriend now just happens to be the very same girl I got paired up with 3 years ago. Soulmates? Who knows? ☺

Back then, our show was also on Good Friday, and chances are, if you're reading this right now, you decided to watch Engkanto. Thank you. It means so much to me and the rest of these amazing and hardworking individuals that you are here. Tonight, we aim to entertain. We want you to laugh, cry, applaud, and feel for these characters. I wanted to write a story that people from all walks of life could understand, but throw in that Filipino flair. Culture is constantly changing and responding to its circumstances. In that same fashion, these traditional folktales have been shaped by those who came before us, and now it is up to our generation to see the value behind knowing these stories and make them our own.

I'd also like to give thanks to AICA and ASI for all of your support, PASA and all of our current members and alumni, for your contributions of time, talent, and treasure, as well as the support of our loved ones. Everyone who supported me creatively, Nikko Arce, the Trilogy, and all my friends. Also, I'd like to thank my dear friend and assistant director, Mr. Kevin "T.K." Gorgonia, for always having my back no matter what craziness comes our way. And of course, I have to give a shoutout to my incredible parents and family. Much of the props you see on stage came from my own backyard, saving us hundreds of dollars and countless hours. Last but not least, my patient and supportive girlfriend Karlet Reyes. We've been through so much, thank you for loving me flaws and all, and dealing with my insanity for the last several months.

Thank you all very much, and Maraming Salamat! Now please, sit back, relax, and enjoy the show!

Jacqui Braceros

PCN Dance Coordinator

Good evening everyone! My name is Jacqui Braceros and I'm this year's Pilipino Culture Night Dance Coordinator. It is with great pride and excitement that I welcome you to our 25th Annual Pilipino Culture Night: Engkanto! You being here means the world to us and we're thankful for your support on this special day.

The Pilipino American Student Association at California State University, Fullerton, also known as PASA, has been anticipating this day for quite some time now. The road to PCN has definitely been a great journey and it has allowed us to celebrate and appreciate our Pilipino culture. Through numerous practices and much hard work and dedication, we have grown to become one big PASA PCN family, ready to present you with our best. With this year being our 25thAnnual Pilipino Culture Night, we are not just here to put on an amazing show for you. Rather, we have come here tonight to make PASA history and we're glad you're here to be a part of it.

This year, as PCN Dance Coordinator, I've chosen dances that I believe you all will enjoy. In respect to the numerous minorities and tribes in the Philippines, we ask that you keep an open mind and not take these performances as the original dances. On behalf of PASA, we would like to acknowledge those individuals out there that are constantly working to raise awareness of the misrepresentation of the Philippine culture through dances.

Words cannot express how proud I am of everyone involved in PCN. This show would not have been possible without such dedicated members. I'm so proud of how far we've come, and I'm thankful that each and every one of you decided to take part in this milestone in PASA history.

To my dance captains, thank you for your hard work and for being so amazing! To my sewing crew, thank you so much for taking a huge load off of my shoulders! To my fellow boardies from both Fall and Spring, thank you for your support and help each semester. I loved working with each one of you!

To Kuya Ian and Mara, thank you for all of your help and words of wisdom. If you two hadn't sparked the idea of me being PCN Dance Coordinator last year during PCN, I wouldn't have gotten the chance to experience this amazing journey. I really would have been lost without you two, and I'm so thankful that you both were there for me from the beginning of it all.

To my wonderful friends and roommates, thank you for putting up with me and helping me in every way you could. Cecile, you were my wing woman in this, and I'm really thankful for all of your help!

To Jon and my family, thank you for your constant never-ending love and for always supporting me in all that I do. I love you all so much!

To Arthur.

To everyone else, thank you again for being here! ENJOY THE SHOW!

Synopsis

Engkanto is a tale about love, loss, and acceptance. The play follows an ensemble of troubled Filipinos who die in a collision, but are brought back to life by a mischievous Diwata, an enchanted Filipino spirit. They transform into monsters and figures from Filipino folklore that reflect their inner problems, and must work together and face their fears in order to return to normal. Julius Marzan plays a young man plagued by his own laziness, Marty Delgado plays a single father still haunted by his wife's death, Ariana Tamase plays his only daughter who yearns for freedom from her overbearing father. Ricca Sarmiento plays her best friend, who has difficulties balancing school, work, and family, Stephanie Tumbaga plays a young woman struggling with love and relationships, and TK Gorgonia plays a young man just trying to fit in and find love. Last but not least, Andrew Licari plays the devilish and charming Diwata, who tests their resolve as they prove themselves truly worthy of living.

Traditional Dances

Dance Captains
These dances have been modified and choreographed to be a theatrical presentation and may have taken away from its original form. In respect to the numerous tribes/minorities of the Philippines, we ask that the audience not accept these dances to be the authentic and original dances.

MARIA CLARA SUITE

IMUNAN

Imunan, a courtship dance, means jealousy. The dance depicts a love triangle; two girls and one boy. In this dance, the boy tries to please the girls who are trying their best to get his attention and favor. The boy shows an admirable attempt to please both girls by paying attention, flirting, and dancing with them, one after the other. The attempt is successful and at the end of the dance, all is sweetness and harmony among the three dancers.

VALSE VIEJA

In Pangasinan, Valse Vieja, performed during stately gatherings and fiestas by the upper class of old Pangasinan may still be the waltziest of all Pangasinan dances. The European waltz is interpreted with the "kewet," a hand movement particular to the province of Pangasinan.

RURAL SUITE

SAYAW SA BANGKO

Sayaw sa Bangko ("dance on a bench") is a folk dance from the Pangasinan province of the Philippines. Performers dance on top of a bench that is normally six inches wide.

TINIKLING

Tinikling is considered the national folkdance with a pair of dancers hopping between two bamboo poles held just above the ground and struck together in time to music. Originated from Leyte Province, this dance is in fact a mimic movement of "tinikling birds" hopping over trees, grass stems or over bamboo traps set by farmers. Dancers perform this dance with remarkable grace and speed jumping between bamboo poles.

CORDILLERA (MOUNTAIN) SUITE

LUMAGEN

A tribal dance. This is a traditional thanksgiving dance by the Kalinga tribe performed to celebrate good harvest and events such as birth of first-bornchild, victory in battles and weddings. This is danced by the Kalinga maiden. The dance imitates birds flying in the air. Music is provided by gangsa, or gongs, which are usually in a group of six or more.

IDAW

This dance sometimes has many names and different versions. Most commonly this dance depicts the hunting ritual performed before a tribal war. The tribes men would go out and look up and watch for the scared Idaw bird, which is said to lead the tribe to victory.

TRIBAL SUITE

BLIT B'LAAN

A courtship dance of the Bilaan of Davao del Sur imitating forest birds during the mating season. Two richly-plumed male birds eye three female birds. The females scurry to safety, burying their heads under their winds (represented by the malong, a tubular cloth), but the aggressive males follow them wherever they go.

INDARAPATRA

From Mindanao mythology, Rajah Indarapatra fights the mythical bird "Pah" that brings destruction to the kingdom.

VINTA

Also called Pangalay ha Pattong, this dance is named for the picturesque boat with colorful sails which glide across the Sulu Sea. Central to this dance are the Royal Couple who each balance atop a pair of swaying bamboo poles, simulating their ride aboard a vinta.

MISSION STATEMENT

Established in 2006, Infinite PASAbilities is a collegiate dance team established through the Pilipino-American Student Association at California State University, Fullerton. This team was created with the purpose of uniting PASA members with a common love and passion for dance - an important and prominent aspect of contemporary Filipino culture. It is our goal to help individuals grow as dancers in a positive environment; giving them the opportunity to realize the infinite potential they have as an artist.

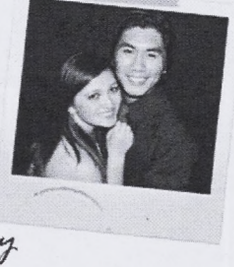
Mahal,

Words cannot convey how proud I am of you. You have come such a long way from when we first danced tinikling together in "Love How You Do" (PCN 2009), to today's 25th Anniversary of PCN; all while trying to balance your time with PCN 2012 and your girlfriend. Know that I will always support you and be here for you in everything you do. I love you with all my heart. Have a "spectacular-spectacular" show!



Love, Karlet

Filipino Folklore Tales

Juan Tamad

The folktales of Juan Tamad are a series of short stories about a foolish little boy known for his extreme laziness. He brings trouble everywhere for his mother, who chastises him repeatedly. "Tamad" means lazy, and his stories are told to teach children not to be lazy.

Malakas and Maganda

Malakas and Maganda characters from a folktale story that explains the creation of the world, with the first humans born from bamboo. Malakas, means the Strong One, and Maganda, the Beautiful One, which are similar to the origins of Adam and Eve in the Bible.

Diwata

A "Diwata" is an enchanted spirit, with varying descriptions from a forest spirit or a fairy, to even being compared to an angel. In many accounts, a diwata can be fickle, giving fortune or disaster to whomever it wishes.

Aswang

One of the most well-known demons in Philippine folklore, the aswang can take shape of anything they choose, usually taking the form of a beautiful woman. According to Filipino superstition, they have snake-like tongues and are said to devour unborn fetuses.

Manananggal

Manananggal are mythical demons that can fly and split themselves in half from the lower half of its body. They are a type of aswang and are also known for eating babies and taking the form of old women.

Kapre

Kapre are giant ogres that live in the trees, most commonly the Balete tree in the Philippines. They have glowing red eyes, and smoke cigars the size of a baby's arm. They are easily infatuated and stalk their objects of affection from afar, but they are generally harmless. It is said that the reason why the trees around you move is because a kapre is following you.

Duwende

Duwende are little people similar to gnomes or dwarves in Western mythology, also known as "nuno sa punso," meaning little creatures who live on top of termite hills. They are fickle creatures and can bestow good or bad fortune to anyone they please.
